In a formerly industrial section of Greenpoint, West Wharf is the first of two waterfront towers planned for a five-building development to build a robust residential community. By virtue of its 40-story height, residents will enjoy dazzling views of the East River, the Manhattan skyline, and/or the Brooklyn cityscape through floor-to-ceiling Thermopane windows. Interiors feature high ceilings, white oak hardwood floors, central HVAC, and contemporary kitchens. The generous indoor amenity package includes an expansive business hub, two luxury screening rooms, a music room and recording studio, a state-of-the-art fitness center, two PGA golf simulators, an indoor basketball court, a spa area with a marble-lined hammam, a children's playroom, a teen game lounge, an indoor pool with children's wading pool, and rooftop deck with outdoor pool and Manhattan skyline views.
